In two Volumes Octavo, Price 10s. sewed.

This extraordinary Performance is quoted by the Academicians of La Crusca as an Original of Authority. Vasari, in his Lives of the Painters, Statuaries, and Architects, speaks of Cel-lini as a wonderful Genius; and Apostolo Zeno mentions the Life of Cellini as a most curious and interesting Work. Besides the many singular Transactions which befell him in the Course of a long Life, and many curious Particulars relative to his Productions in the fine Arts, Cellini has embraced every Opportunity to describe the most important Occurrences of the Times in which he lived. He characterizes Popes and other sovereign Princes, and comments upon their Actions with Freedom and Spirit. Cellini's Passions were violent and his Temper sincere. He does not conceal the Consequences of his Intrigues and Quarrels, his Rencounters and Duels: He fairly lays his whole Conduct before the Reader: He is above Art, and scorns Disguise.
